

What is Homeingle?

Homeingle is a free service that provides nonprofit organizations, such as your own, with the online tools to connect with their volunteers and local community. You can create a profile page for your nonprofit and allow your members/volunteers to join. They're then able to connect through message boards, news, events, and needs. You can also find local volunteers and ask for help from local businesses.

What makes Homeingle different?

We provide tools beyond the typical social network.

- » Volunteers join Homeingle and list their skills/talents. They can request to volunteer for your events, and you can search for volunteers in your area. We provide two way communications with your volunteers.
- » Tasks can be delegated to your group members and volunteers when managing an event.
- » Needs (items/services/support) can be posted and responded to by your members and volunteers.
- » Local Support for your public needs is provided by businesses through discounts and sponsorships.

Already use a volunteer network?

That's OK! Homeingle compliments your current efforts and your website by providing additional tools other sites do not have. The ability to manage your events with tasks, needs, and collaboration features allow you to take your nonprofit to the next level. Since Homeingle is free, you have nothing to lose and everything to gain!

How does Homeingle make money?

You're probably thinking "What is the catch?" There is none. When an organization posts a need for a product/service, local businesses can respond through a private message. These businesses are charged a small monthly fee to join. Don't worry, Homeingle never gives out your contact information. It is up to you to supply this to a business if they respond to one of your needs.
